Education

2015–present

PhD Candidate in Writing

Edith Cowan University

Scholarship: Australian Postgraduate Award

My research explores how poetry might harmonise 'Western' scientific and 'Eastern' spiritual worldviews.

1983–1986

Bachelor of Science with First-Class Honours in Computer Science

The University of Western Australia

Work

1986–present

Poet, writer, editor and writing teacher

In 2008 I began to teach writing and became a professional editor and writer. I have worked with schools, libraries, community organisations and many individual writers. I have made hundreds of public appearances.

I am well-known throughout Australia and have an international readership. Since 1991 my work has been published in Australian, American, English and Canadian journals. I have published two books, a chapbook, seven zines and a CD. I founded a weekly reading and an online magazine. My collected works website, published since 2003, is archived by the National Library of Australia.

2008–2011

Lecturer in Creative Writing

Challenger Institute of Technology

I created a course booklet that continued to be used after I left.

2000–2008

Group Leader, Counsellor, Assessor, Community Educator, Regional Representative, and more

Australian Breastfeeding Association

I attained formal qualifications equivalent to Certificate IV in Training and Assessment, Certificate IV in Counselling, and Certificate III in Community Education. I gave seminars, assessed and mentored trainees, wrote articles, facilitated groups, counselled clients, and managed teams. (Voluntary)

1985–1996

IT industry career

Various clients, employers, professional associations

I designed and developed software and managed computer systems. I was active in professional associations: I gave seminars, wrote articles, edited a newsletter, served on committees and helped organise conferences.

1990

Sessional Lecturer

The University of Western Australia

I lectured in Computer Science and assessed assignments.

1987

Lecturer

Karratha College

I lectured in computer programming.
